Julie is a Principal at Quinn IP Law who applies her interest in all things mechanical to her career as an attorney. Julie assists clients in obtaining essential protection for their valuable intellectual property, and also helps them develop a portfolio that will support their business goals, from the initial product development stage to marketing. Julie's hands-on experience working with both inventors and management personnel allows her to create productive and long-lasting relationships with all levels of organizations. Her ability to provide technical and legal insight makes her an asset to a wide range of clients, from startups to Fortune 100 companies. At Quinn, Julie provides clients with intellectual property strategies, which include patent, trademark, trade secrets, and copyright services. For example, Julie can provide services in patent and trademark preparation, enforcement, and portfolio management, as well as conducting technical design and consulting, and handling copyright, licensing, joint development, along with other matters. Julie is motivated by knowing that her work enhances her clients' ability to achieve their business objectives.

Prior to joining Quinn IP Law, Julie was an attorney at a full-service law firm, where she provided a wide range of intellectual property services to clients, including researching, preparing, and prosecuting domestic and foreign patent applications. She also prepared non-infringement and invalidity opinions, appeal briefs, requests for re-examination, and trademark applications.

Julie holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering Technology from Eastern Michigan University, where she graduated cum laude. She earned her Juris Doctor from Western Michigan University Cooley Law School. She is admitted to the State Bar of Michigan and is a member of the International Trademark Association.
